BERLIN, Aug. 23.—[By The Associated Press.]—Dr. Rudolf Hilferding, the first Socialist to hold the federal position of minister of finance, today informed the reichstag budget committee that he purposed to inaugurate an era of "brutal and ruthless taxation policies."

The banks and industrialists, said Dr. Hilferding, already had received his warning, and he was particularly desirous to inform the public at large of his intention. It was his opinion that dictatorial measures within constitutional limits would prove the only means of saving the country in the present situation.

U. S. OPTIMISTIC; FUEL MEN GIRD FOR WALKOUT

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 23.—A sympathetic strike on the part of soft coal miners to aid an anthracite walkout, should such be called, would make the most powerful strike in the coal industry that the world has ever seen, Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, said in an address here before the International Photo-Engravers' union tonight.

"I have no information, however, as to the likelihood of such a strike," Mr. Gompers added. "As to which side would win if it took place, well, I am no prophet."

Bituminous Tieup Is Held Unlikely.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—While rumors were flying thick and fast of the menace of a sympathetic bituminous strike the administration today sought to increase pressure on the anthracite miners and operators to settle their differences.

tributing substitutes for hard coal will be in charge of Mr. Wadsworth, acting with the interstate commerce commission, and it was stated that the machinery set up will be like that in the past under similar conditions, but that details will not be announced until after the meeting in New York.

Coal Operators Offer Aid.
President John C. Brydon of the National Coal association, who is also chairman of the special committee of bituminous operators, announced that the association is ready to volunteer its services in helping distribute soft coal to sections now using hard coal. The plan of the committee has been announced, and would involve the setting up by the association of an organization to work with the government and dispatch its agents to the several sections to learn the coal requirements. The demands would be communicated to Washington, and the coal allocated among the soft mines most suited to meet them, and the railroads and interstate-commerce commission kept constantly informed of the movements involved.

The coal commission, in a report made public today, stated that the cost of labor in the production of a ton of anthracite coal had increased the setting up by the association of an organization to work with the government and dispatch its agents to the several sections to learn the coal requirements. The demands would be communicated to Washington, and the coal allocated among the soft mines most suited to meet them, and the railroads and interstate-commerce commission kept constantly informed of the movements involved.

Coal Men Pessimistic.
Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—Anthraxite mine operators and officials of the miners' union, firmly convinced that Sept. 1 would see a complete stoppage of their industry as a result of failure to make a new wage contract, remained today in Atlantic City, though all communication between them had been suspended for forty-eight hours. Both groups had been definitely told that the federal government has no ground for intervening further to prevent the shutdown, and neither had changed in the slightest degree the conflicting attitude which made them break off negotiations Tuesday.

Pump Question Arises.
But it also appeared that the miners' union and the operators have another point to settle before separating. It will take about 4,000 men to keep the pumps going in the Pennsylvania mines, to keep up maintenance work, and to mine coal to fire the power plants, which must be kept running. In practically all anthracite strikes, a trust has been made sufficiently effective to assure the conduct of these operations. Unless it is done again, it was said, anthracite mines might be so flooded and deranged that a short time as to make them incapable of production for many months.

May Call Meeting.
Mr. Lewis is holding in the city all members of the miners' scale committee, and there will be a general meeting tomorrow to fix the terms and conditions on which the maintenance and pump crews may continue in employment.

HAMMOND HUBBY ASKS A DIVORCE, SUES OTHER MAN
Two suits have been filed by Edward A. Oppergelt, manager of the Calumet Electric company of Hammond, one for divorce, the other for $10,000 against Dr. John T. Bolin, a well known Hammond physician.

Mrs. Oppergelt before her marriage was Miss Ruth L. Brunner, a nurse of St. Paul. She was married in June, 1920. Last January she was hospitalized in St. Margaret's hospital, Hammond, and met Dr. Bolin. She separated from her husband in April. Counsel for Oppergelt charges that Dr. Bolin won her from her husband by gifts of various kinds and established a "love nest" for her on his estate near Cedar lake. The physician, according to Oppergelt's attorney, desires other than a professional acquaintance with Mrs. Oppergelt and calls the action "plain blackmail." He declares the case will be fought to a finish.

DEALERS SPIKE TALK OF COAL FAMINE IN CITY

Alarm Caused by Threatened Strike 'Needless.'

Rumor that Chicago is in for a coal famine before Christmas if anthracite miners strike Sept. 1 is unfounded on facts many dealers declared yesterday. Prices of anthracite, Pocahontas smokeless, and bituminous grades remain firm so far, despite the strike talk.

Another note of optimism was sounded in the general coal situation when Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Mine Workers' union, branded as "bunk" rumors of an impending walkout of the entire industry.

Won't Repudiate Contract.
Existing contracts in the central competitive field do not expire until March 31, 1924, Mr. Farrington pointed out. He added that "our organization has never repudiated an agreement." He said he understood the central Pennsylvania workers' contract is also effective to the same date.

"These wildcat reports to the effect that the bituminous men are interested in the anthracite strike situation are deplorable and, to my knowledge, have no basis whatever," Farrington asserted. "And the rumors may do real harm, as a bit of agitation of that kind is likely to get the men to thinking along strike lines."

Ask Firm Stand by President.
L. W. Ferguson, president of the Chicago Coal Merchants' association, wired President Coolidge requesting him to "stand firm for prompt arbitration," and Col. A. C. Earnshaw, commissioner for the association, said he was making a check of all anthracite on hand.

Mr. Ferguson placed the present anthracite supply in Chicago at 50,000 tons, though estimates from other sources ran these figures as high as 125,000 tons.

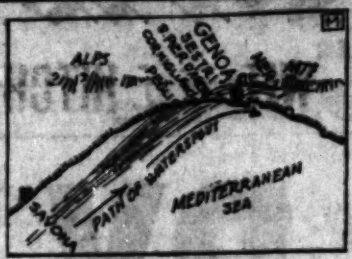

With a good supply above ground, middle west bituminous operators can supply the demand in any emergency, said Dr. P. C. Honnold, secretary of the Illinois Coal Operators' association. "An anthracite strike can have only one possible effect here, and that is that the comparatively few burners of anthracite may have to burn bituminous," said Dr. Honnold. "We have 45,000,000 tons above ground in Illinois now, with a potential producing capacity in the state of 100,000,000 tons annually."

Chicago in No Danger.
One of the "optimists" encountered was M. E. Keig, vice president in charge of operation of the Consumers' company. Mr. Keig declared that, with plentiful supplies of bituminous, coke, and a comparatively lesser supply of Pocahontas smokeless, to take the place of anthracite should the walkout come, Chicago is in no danger of "freezing to death" next winter.

"It was Chicago's misfortune that consumers did not respond to buying appeals during the summer," said Mr. Keig. "This will result in some boost in prices of all grades when the winter rush comes whether there is a strike or not. The immense overhead sustained during a slack summer period makes this inevitable."

"Anthracite in May, June and July was $16 a ton. Already it has jumped to $18.50. It is bound to go higher."

Hit by Waterspout

GENOA, Aug. 23.—[By the Associated Press.]—A huge waterspout burst upon the coast of the Genoa Riviera today, injuring numerous people and doing much damage. The principal places affected were Sestri, Pegli, Gornigiano, and San Pier d'Arena. The storm lasted nearly an hour at Pegli, where the Ansaldo pig iron works were unroofed and several persons injured by falling tiles. At San Pier d'Arena the damage to the Ansaldo depot is estimated at 100,000 lire and various wounded were conveyed to the hospital. At one point a brick house was leveled to the ground.

All the wooden houses at Gornigiano were razed and a half mile along the coast all bathing establishments and trees were cut away. The electric power lines are down.

both classes of building workers. The wage question became a deadlocked issue. Stoppage of building threatened. Just prior to the expiration of the union contracts Thomas S. Kearney, president of the Building Trades council, William Gunther, former business agent of the Gasfitters' union, and Edward M. Craig, secretary of the Building Construction Employers' association, agreed upon Judge Kenesaw M. Landis as an arbiter to settle the wage controversy.

Carpenters' Union Balks.
The carpenters refused to submit their wage matter to Judge Landis for settlement and also refused to abolish the famous article 3 in their agreement, which prohibited importation of nonunion interior finish into the Chicago market. Awarding of the differential scale wasn't acceptable to all trades. Each of them claimed their members were entitled to the same rate as the electricians and bricklayers, which was $1.10 an hour.

It then became apparent that several trades would refuse to abide by Judge Landis' finding. Contractors, realizing their serious predicament, began to look around for aid. For several weeks they got promises and nothing else. It was then that the citizens' committee to enforce the award was organized. Led by John J. O'Leary, James A. Fatten, Joseph Noel, and Thomas J. Donnelly, a committee of 150 business men was formed to enforce the Landis award.

Declared Open Shop.
Refusing to eliminate article 3, the carpenters were the first to be declared open shop by the citizens' committee. The painters, plumbers, heating engineers, roofers, sheet metal workers, painters, glaziers, cement finishers, fixture hangers, and laborers refused to abide by the Landis wage rates, and they were likewise placed on an open shop basis by the citizens' committee.

The citizens' committee began the importation of thousands of workers to fill the places of the workers in the trades placed on an open shop basis.

'RULE OF TERROR' IS I. W. W. REPLY TO JAILING WRIT

California Takes Right of Jury from 'Wobblies.'

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 23.—[Sacramento is to be subjected to a "reign of terror" by the Industrial Workers of the World, and members of the organization plan to give the city "the same kind of a dose that was administered to Centralia, Wash." It has been learned by state investigators who are probing the activities of the organization in California.

The threat is believed to have been caused by the granting today by Judge Charles O. Busick of an injunction that will make I. W. W.'s subject to six months jail sentences for contempt of court on proof of membership.

The time set for the drive on this city is the early fall, according to one of the officials of the I. W. W., who told at the meeting of plans to "teach Sacramento a lesson." The arrest of this official is expected.

The investigators also have reported the plans to promote a general strike in industries, agriculture, lumber, and general construction camps, which the organization hopes to call within six weeks. A quantity of new literature, published in Chicago and California headquarters, was found.

The suit for the injunction was brought by the district attorney of Sacramento county "in the name of the people of the state of California." Under the terms of the writ, the I. W. W. may be imprisoned without jury trial. It was granted "pendente lite," which means pending litigation. Within ten days the defendants may appear in court with other proof or testimony against the granting of the injunction.

Judge Busick refused pleas of the I. W. W. for a change of venue, based on affidavits tending to show that he was prejudiced and could not give an impartial hearing. Defendants are expected to appeal to the state Supreme court.

13 MEN, WOMAN HELD AS OKLA. TRAIN ROBBERS

Pawhuska, Okla., Aug. 23.—Thirteen men and one woman were held in the Osage county jail here early tonight at the end of a day's roundup of suspects in connection with the robbery last Monday night of Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 123 near Okemah, Okla.

Swooping down early this morning on the farming community in the eastern section of the county near Okemah, a posse of about thirty federal, county, city, and railroad officers took into custody four men and then arrested seven others in Okemah.

Charles Johnson, alleged to have been the leader of the train robber band, was taken at his farm home with another man.

Goldie Bates, a young woman, alleged to be an associate of Al Spencer, Oklahoma's most notorious outlaw, also was placed under arrest. That Spencer had no part in the robbery was the declaration of United States Marshal McDonald.

KITTEN'S CLAWS ALMOST WRECK THIS MAN'S HOME

How a kitten's claws almost robbed a citizen of Harvey of his wife, lost a star boarder his home, and caused a repentant wife to spend the night in a police cell was related to Police Magistrate Henry L. Heckler in the Harvey court yesterday.

"It all happened because of that had little kitten," pouted Mrs. Ethel Young of Winchester, Tenn., now residing at 1818 Haled street, Harvey. Mrs. Young is not quite 13 yet. "The kitten got to playing with a pair of Clyde's socks and tore one of them. Clyde is my husband. He accused me of not darning it. We quarreled and I decided to run away."

And the man she decided to run away with was Charles Wilkinson, a childhood playmate back in Winchester and star boarder at the Young home for the last seven months. They packed their grips and left. Young learned they had taken a street car for Chicago Heights and notified the police there. Back to Harvey they came and Magistrate Heckler kept them overnight in cells.

"Twenty dollars and costs and I order you to catch the next train out of Harvey and never return," was Wilkinson's sentence.

TRANSLATES NEW TESTAMENT INTO AMERICAN ENGLISH

Goodspeed Seeks Make Bible Read.

At the end of three and a half years, which was preceded by many years of study and research through papyrus documents, Dr. James J. Goodspeed of the University of Chicago has translated the New Testament from the Greek to American language of American people.

There have been many other translations since the King James version, but this is the first time the New Testament has been translated into the American language of American people.

Make Bible Popular.
Dr. Goodspeed, who is the head of the New Testament department at the University of Chicago, undertook the task of translating the New Testament into the American language of American people. The work was not without its difficulties. The Greek version of the Old Testament, which was the basis of the King James version, was not written in the common language of the people. It was written in a language which was understood only by a few scholars.

Dr. Goodspeed's translation is a new version of the New Testament. It is written in the American language of American people. It is a translation which is intended to make the Bible more readable and more understandable to the American people.

KING JAMES. I can speak the language of men and even of angels, and have no need of charity. I am only a man, and I have no need of charity. I am only a man, and I have no need of charity. I am only a man, and I have no need of charity.

CHARITY. Charity suffereth long, and is kind, and is not jealous, and is not puffed up, and is not easily provoked, and is not full of envy, and is not full of wrath, and is not full of pride, and is not full of ambition, and is not full of covetousness, and is not full of anger, and is not full of malice, and is not full of guile, and is not full of hypocrisy, and is not full of double dealing, and is not full of unbelief, and is not full of unbelief, and is not full of unbelief.

AR. Wed for you. This prayer again could not be and it is PEACOCK innum 2.

GOLF BUG BITES THE ENTIRE CITY ADMINISTRATION

Commissioner of Public Works A. A. Sprague driving off at the first hole at the Old Elm Golf Club yesterday. Left to right in the background are: Clayton F. Smith, deputy commissioner of public works; Corporation Counsel Frank K. Busch, and Mayor Dever. The game failed to settle the contention between the fourth and fifth floor of the city hall. Sprague and Smith, representing the fourth floor, turned in a 93 and 115, respectively, while Busch and Dever, representing the fifth floor, turned in a 96 and a 112, the two teams tying. The second floor of the city hall, represented by City Treasurer John A. Cervenka and Mike Robin, member of the board of local improvements, now challenges either team.

U. S. CALLS RICH MEN FOR QUIZ ON
"BOOZE DIVIDEND"

Federal subpoenas were issued yesterday for more than a dozen shareholders in the Grommes & Ulrich $200,000 "booze dividend" case, investigation of which resulted in the indictment of Roscoe C. Andrews, former acting prohibition director for Illinois, and John E. Earley, his chief field agent.

The names of those summoned to United States District Attorney Olson's office were not made public, pending service of the subpoenas, but the list is said to include several "gold coast" and North Shore millionaires, and a participant in the "liquidation" of the company, appeared at the federal building yesterday in answer to a summons and was questioned at length by Assistant District Attorney Byrne.

It is said the government plans to interview all prospective witnesses. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson has ruled that all preliminary motions in the case must be disposed of by Sept. 3, and that the trial of the liquor corporation and eleven individuals be set for Sept. 10.

Among those who testified before the grand jury were former Judge Charles A. Williams and former Alderman Robert J. Mulcahy, who is alleged to have given his note for $170,000 in payment of his share of the "stock" of the company from which was more than 1,000 cases of choice whiskeys, wines, rum, gin and brandy. John R. Thompson, Jr., Potter Palmer; Augustus P. Peabody, and Henry Bartholomew, were also among those summoned to testify before the grand jury.

That the government expects the defense to wage a bitter battle in the trial is evidenced by the appointment of four assistant United States attorneys to prosecute the case.

WORK HOISTS BANNER
FOR COOLIDGE; SAYS
HE WILL WIN '24

Denver, Colo., August 23.—Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, in a letter written to a political friend here and made public here today, advocates the nomination of President Coolidge in 1924.

Secretary Work is the first member of the cabinet to announce himself in favor of the president's nomination.

"Now that the change of administration of the government has been effected, thoughtful men are discussing the future," the letter reads.

"There needs to be no disagreement among party leaders as to the wisdom of closing up our ranks behind the new President as the party candidate, if he will consent. The public already appreciates his quality and I am sure his election would follow."

"Perhaps no man in the United States is as well qualified by temperament and experience for the duties of the presidency, upon short notice, as President Coolidge."

Bartlett Backs Coolidge. Concord, N. H., Aug. 23.—First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett issued a statement here today endorsing himself as a candidate for delegate to the Republican national convention next year and pledging himself to support Calvin Coolidge for the presidency.

Maine Governor in Line. Augusta, Me., Aug. 23.—Telegrams suggesting the formation of a State of Maine Coolidge club were sent by Gov. Baxter today to several prominent citizens.

Gov. Baxter wired that "we wish to show the country that the Republicans of our state believe we have the right man in the White House and intend to keep him there."

FRADY'S BROTHER
FACES CONTEMPT
ACTION BY WIFE

The tragic marital difficulties of Edgar C. Frady, who killed his wife and died in Florida awaiting trial for her murder, were reflected yesterday in the petition of Mrs. Carrie Frady, 3044 Lake Park avenue, to force her husband, George Henry Frady, an insurance man, to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court for failure to pay her alimony.

The defendant is the dead man's brother.

Frady has failed in the last two months to pay the alimony. Mrs. Frady charges. The children, her petition alleges, have been placed in St. Alban's school at Sycamore, Ill., and when the time came for them to go to Mrs. Frady, their father refused to furnish them with traveling expenses.

Attorney William C. Kleinman, who filed the petition, said that Edgar C. Frady, who was an official of the Cole Motor company in Chicago, had guaranteed the alimony payments. Since his death on Jan. 13, Kleinman said, George Frady has kept up the payments at intervals.

COAST TO COAST
AIR MAIL WORKS
WITHOUT HITCHSecond Test Ends Well;
Third Speeds Along.

Running ahead of schedule, mail planes landed in New York and San Francisco yesterday, completing the second trans-continental test flight, while two other mail planes were speeding across the continent ahead of their schedules in the third test flight.

The plane carrying mail that left the Golden Gate yesterday morning in the second flight, landed at New York at 12:22 p. m., spanning the continent in 27 hours and 56 minutes, four minutes under the estimated 32 hours.

The westbound plane with its burden of letters from the Atlantic seaboard completed its trip across the country when it landed at San Francisco at 1:45 o'clock two and one-half hours ahead of its estimated time.

Third Flight Moving Quickly. Meanwhile the third flight, gave promise of equaling or bettering the record of the second. The mail that left New York yesterday morning reached here at 5:59 p. m., central standard time, and the plane carrying it hopped off two minutes later, 59 minutes ahead of schedule and with prospects of gaining a greater lead during the night flight over the 885 miles of lighted airway to Cheyenne.

The eastbound plane, scheduled to pass its companion during the night, was roaring across the plains with prospects of making better time than the night schedule called for. It arrived in Cheyenne, the west end of the night airway trail, at 5:37 p. m., mountain time, over one hour ahead of schedule.

The fifth flight, scheduled for tomorrow was called off to give the aviators a rest. It was announced yesterday by Postmaster General New at Washington, who added that the tests had fully proven the feasibility of trans-continental mail plane service.

Complimented by Coolidge. President Coolidge expressed to Postmaster General New yesterday his gratification over the achievement of the postoffice department in demonstrating the possibility of twenty-eight hour coast to coast air mail service.

During the three twenty-four hour periods in which the night flying experiments had been conducted, approximately 75,000 letters had been transported by the air mail service from coast to coast, Second Assistant Postmaster General Henderson announced at Omaha yesterday.

"That San Francisco and New York have been placed within 24 hours of each other is due solely to the night flights," he added.

Hopson in Omaha at 10:50. Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—Pilot Hopson, flying from Chicago with today's westbound mail, arrived in Omaha at 10:50 p. m. (central standard time).

Garrison Races to Chicago. Garrison Races to Chicago. Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—Pilot "Dinty" Moore arrived from Cheyenne at 11:37 p. m. (central standard time). Pilot Garrison picked up sixteen mail pouches carried by Moore and hopped off for Chicago at 11:50.

PRIMARIES UNWISE,
SAYS SURVEY BODY
AFTER INVESTIGATION

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 23.—Confusion resulting from the multiplicity of names on ballots under the primary election plan makes this system "worse than a joke; it's a scandal," a special committee reported today to the national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws in session here.

The report, submitted by a committee appointed to investigate drafting of a uniform primary law for federal offices for all states reported that the primary plan is "inadvisable" and that "delegate conventions are better prepared to choose" party nominees.

"After due consideration of the matter, your committee reports that in their judgment a uniform primary act for the selection of federal offices is inadvisable," the report states.

"A consideration of the principle involved together with observation of the practical working of primary election laws, in those jurisdictions where such laws are in operation, lead us to believe that they have not overcome the evils they were aimed at, and that they lead to other evils as great or greater than those they were intended to correct."

"As most voters do not know or even know of these candidates, they vote half haphazard, often for the first on the list merely because his name is first."

NEW TRAFFIC
TOWERS READY FOR OPERATION

(Picture on back page.) Chicago's intricate towers on Michigan avenue may be placed in operation today. All that remains, according to Capt. Thomas Richards of the south park police, is to subject the towers to a thorough test to determine if the mechanism is perfect.

A partial test was made last night and twenty-four south park policemen were given instruction as to their operation.

From Randolph street south to East 23d street three principal towers have been erected, one at Jackson boulevard, one at Roosevelt road, and one at East 18th street.

The system is to be extended if it proves successful.

Italy's Big Loss.
In connection with the indemnity it demands that Italy points out that if 50,000,000 gold marks ($12,500,000,000) are paid to Germany, Italy would receive 10,000,000 gold marks ($2,500,000,000) more than it is entitled to under the terms of the Spa conference. Under the Spa agreement Italy would receive 10 per cent of the remaining 40,000,000 gold marks, a total of 6,000,000 gold marks ($1,500,000,000).

BRITAIN DELAYS MOVE

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Aug. 23.—[Tribune Radio.]—The British government has delayed its move to settle the Anglo-French controversy for two or three weeks. Prime Minister Baldwin has today studying Premier Poincaré's note and conferring with cabinet members and experts. But his plan to go to Aix-les-Bains Saturday for a holiday is still unchanged.

He proposes to remain there two weeks, and he may meet Lord Curzon, who is also on a holiday in France. On his way back through Paris he is willing to meet Premier Poincaré for an informal talk if the French premier expresses a desire for a meeting. A full cabinet meeting will be held on his return, at which the British policy will be decided, and if separate action is declared necessary parliament will be called into special session to approve the government policy. Twenty-four hours of discussion of the French note had not changed the British view, however, that it represents a new departure. The financial position is regarded as wholly hopeless.

U. S. VIEWS

BY HENRY WALKER.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
PARIS, Aug. 23.—[Tribune Radio.]—Europe is anxiously awaiting cable dispatches from America, telling what is the United States' reaction to Premier Poincaré's note and what the American government thinks of the point blank statement of France that it cannot pay war debts until Germany delivers the reparations to settle them. American editorial opinion, reflecting the mood of the people's ideas, has been regarded as a just and fair compromise in the various conflicting aims and ambitions of Europe. Therefore the French foreign office is keenly interested in the "United States" opinion of Premier Poincaré's reply.

FRANCIS WILL MEET

HIRAM FLAYS HIS ENEMIES; DARES THEM TO BATTLE

Charges Theft of Personal Letter in Challenge.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—Senator Hiram W. Johnson (Rep., Cal.), prospective candidate for the Republican nomination for President, today challenged his opponents, including Secretary of Commerce Hoover, to do battle for control of the California delegation to the national convention next year.

His challenge was the conclusion of a vitriolic statement the senator issued concerning his recently published private letter to Charles K. McClatchy of Sacramento, in which Mr. Johnson lamented the surrender of the progressive Republicans to the old guard element in California and expressed doubt that by virtue of the ascendancy of his enemies in the party organization he could carry his own state today.

Excoriates Political Opponents.
"The only importance of the publication of this letter," the statement said, "is an illustration of the kind of political opposition we have in California—an opposition without limitations of honor or decency."

"Last May, while I was in Europe I wrote to a friend of mine, Charles K. McClatchy of Sacramento, an intimate, personal letter. Mr. McClatchy sent excerpts, and excerpts only, of this letter in a letter of his own to Albert E. Boynton of San Francisco, chairman of the Republican state central committee of California."

"There are some things that must not be done even in politics—that decent men and women can not condone. One of these is burglarizing an opponent's rooms or stealing his private property or private correspondence or receiving things thus appropriated."

WATER IS SO MUDDY HOSPITAL IN OMAHA DELAYS OPERATIONS

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 23.—Omaha today continued to suffer the inconvenience of a useless water works system, which was precipitated last Monday night by a cave-in of the mud banks of the Missouri river.

On advice of Health Commissioner Pinto many are seeking inoculation as a preventive against typhoid. The Methodist hospital is postponing all but emergency operative cases.

This is exactly what was done in this particular instance.
"Fortunately, aside from little intimacies which occur in the correspondence of every man and woman, there is nothing in any correspondence of mine that cannot be revealed or published. I do object, however, to grand larceny or petty thieving in politics or business."

"I may add that I hope the letter may be taken by the opposition, well exemplified in this instance, as an invitation to a contest in California. Progressive Republicans there, apart from any candidacies, are determined that the delegation to the Republican national convention next year shall represent California as California is, a progressive state."

NEW CLEWS POINT TO MURDER OF HARVEY WOMAN

Discovery of new clues upholding the theory that Mrs. Katherine Roek, mother of five children, was murdered and her body placed beside the Illinois Central railroad tracks in Harvey, Ill., last night spurred State's Attorney Crowe to a thorough investigation.

Plans were made to call Jennie Roek, 18 year old daughter of the dead woman, to the state's attorney's office. Three other witnesses, who up to this time have not been mentioned, will also be questioned, it was said.

Two suits each for $135,000 damages were filed against Lloyd, which guaranteed the bank against loss from defalcation.

SMALL MISSES SLICE OF CAKE AT AURORA FAIR

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 23.—[Special.]—"Illinois day" was inaugurated at the Central States exposition here today as one of the state's annual political events.

Patterned after "Democratic Wednesday" and "Republican Thursday" at the Illinois state fair, "Illinois day" at the Aurora exposition is intended by the management to be a time for politicians of the state to mingle socially and discuss political affairs on the side.

Gov. Small was among those absent. The governor himself spoiled plans for staging a demonstration for him here today. When the word leaked out last week that the Lundin-Thompson-Small crowd intended to mark the advent of "Illinois day" by a rousing reception for the governor, he suddenly changed his plans and sent his regrets to the management.

Consequently he missed his piece of the big cake, three feet in diameter, served at the banquet board presided over by State Treasurer Oscar Nelson, vice president of the exposition.

Silent messengers for the governor appeared, however. A few automobiles were decorated with Small banners and under the governor's picture in the Geneva state school exhibit appeared this inscription:

"Folks who eat supper vote for Len Small."

CUT OF 12 HOUR STEEL DAY TAKES UP LABOR SLACK

Helps Absorb Oversupply
of Workers.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Installation of the eight hour shift in continuous processes in iron and steel right now is helping to take up the slack in employment which has appeared in the last four or six weeks. At Gary, South Chicago, Pittsburgh, Youngstown, and other mill points, the labor supply is proving more abundant than the companies expected and the change from the twelve hour day to the eight hour turn seems to be progressing faster than was looked for ten days ago when the craze was formally hung on the long day shift.

Figures are difficult to get, as the companies say it is too early to get a snapshot, but estimates from some steel quarters yesterday were that in the last ten days between 4,000 and 5,000 "new" men have gone into the continuous processes in the entire steel and iron industry. This means that 8,000 to 10,000, and perhaps 15,000, workers who had the twelve hour day are now actually working eight hours.

As one operator described it, the mills are stepping older employees up, taking experienced hands from other jobs and putting them into the eight hour turns as fast as units can be placed on the new basis, and most of the "new labor" is going in at the bottom.

E. H. Gary, head of the U. S. Steel corporation, has estimated that to abolish the twelve hour day entirely in the industry, 60,000 more workers would be required.

What Surveys Show.

During the last two months a slackening in employment has occurred in the steel industry itself, and this is aiding to speed up the spread of the three shift day, besides giving jobs to men who otherwise might be out of work for a part time.

The advisory board of the Illinois department of labor a few days ago reported a 5 per cent decrease in employment in iron and steel during July in Illinois, while figures from New York yesterday were that during the last week operations of steel plants of the entire country have fallen off 1 per cent. They are now estimated to average about 83 per cent. High record for the entire industry was made in March—approximately 94 per cent—so present activities show a decrease of twelve points from the top.

Naturally enough the sag is reflected in the pay roll, and the establishment of the eight hour day is now helping take up the slack. Besides, common labor from other fields, such as the rubber towns of Ohio, is still coming in looking for work, while the migration of Negroes to the north and the influx of Mexicans is still on.

The Gary mills say the eight hour shift is to be extended as rapidly as labor conditions permit, and at Gary and South Chicago yesterday indications were that the labor supply is in excess of the demand. If the present rate is kept up, some steel men point out, the twelve hour turn will not require ten months or a year for eradication, as some have figured.

No Immediate Price Changes.

According to a statement from Mr. Gary in New York yesterday, the effect of the elimination of the twelve hour day upon production costs and prices for finished steel will not be determined for about three months. "This was interpreted as meaning that no immediate price changes are in the wind, and it served to puncture a rumor that the steel men are contemplating a price boost for the near future."

LITSINGER AND MAYOR ENGAGE IN TAXES TILT

The taxpayer whose taxes have doubled within six years found eager champions yesterday in Mayor William D. Dwyer and Edward R. Litsinger, a member of the board of review. ## CONGRESS TO MAKE FEW TAX REVISIONS, IS CAPITAL OPINION

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—(Special.)—While present indications seem to be that there will not be any unusual revision of taxes at the next session of congress it was learned that Secretary of Treasury Mellon will review his recommendation of paring down of surtaxes.

It is also understood that the secretary again will go on record in opposition to the enactment of soldiers' bonus legislation, which the chamber also is protesting against except as it may be applied to wounded and sick veterans.

Despite the opposition from these sources, however, legislation for a soldier bonus will be actively pushed and Senator Smoot, who will be chairman of the committee on finance, predicted upon his recent return from Europe and after an interview with the President, that bonus legislation would be enacted and that business need expect no reduction in taxes.

It is understood to be his plan to raise the requirements for a general bonus by a sales tax. But he does not think the surtaxes or any of the other taxes on business will be reduced.

One of the issues in the municipal campaign last spring was that the city's expenditures, which required a 4 per cent rate on full value of property, was grossly extravagant. The citizens listened to and accepted your promises to deliver them an administration based on the strictest economy and financial retrenchment; promises of drastic improvement over the outgoing administration. The citizens are now patiently waiting for the first overt act toward the redemption of these promises.

Reply by Mayor. "We are in hearty accord with Mr. Litsinger when he says that the tax rate is 'exorbitant and destructive,' declared the mayor, 'and there are but two methods by which the tax rate can be reduced. One is rigid economy in the departmental management of all tax spending bodies. To that end a survey of all city departments is in progress so that appropriations asked next year will be only such as are absolutely necessary for departmental needs. The other method is by increasing the valuation of real and personal property where it improperly escapes taxation—in a word, forcing the taxpayer to pay taxes on a fair value of his holdings. We have never contemplated a tax rate increase, and intimations to that effect are made deliberately to cloud the issue."

Investigations, Mr. Busch said, have discovered that estates pending in the Probate court have been assessed a few hundred or thousand dollars in the face of sworn inventories indicating the estate value at many millions; millions of dollars' worth of bonds selling at par have been assessed at one-fifth of their value; individuals owning city and country homes and numerous automobiles are given personal property assessments of $1,000 to $1,500, and real estate has been sold within the last two years at figures, in some cases, ten times the assessed valuation.

LACK of lubrication—proper lubrication—is the cause of most repairs. Also low resale prices.

A recent, widespread survey among repair shops brought this unique fact to light. Their figures showed that, on the average, 80% of all repairs on moving parts came from the owner's neglect in lubricating his car.

Used car merchants, too, stated that a $1,500 car of standard make would, if it had always been properly lubricated, bring at least $150 more when traded-in or resold, than a car which had been neglected in this important respect.

A New Step Forward

Most motorists lubricate their motors. For this is easy to do. The parts they have neglected are the hard-wearing chassis bearings. Primarily because they have been too hard to reach.

But now it is easy to lubricate your spring shackles, brake anchors, clutch bearings, water pump, steering knuckle, etc. For most all good cars now come equipped with the Alemite High Pressure Lubricating System.

With this system every wearing surface of your chassis is equipped with a hollow fitting with the cross pin shown below. You snap on the Alemite bayonet coupling with one turn of thumb and forefinger. The cross pin locks it. Then turn the compressor handle and lubricant is forced through the hollow fitting into the heart of every bearing under 500 pounds pressure.

There is no uncertainty. A turn of the handle and the lubricant goes clear through! Old grease, dirt, rust and grit are forced out. High pressure insures this.

Nothing So Important

There is nothing so important in car maintenance as this matter of methodical lubrication. If Alemite is on your car—use it—at least every 500 miles. That's why the manufacturer put it on—to save repairs for you. (Nearly 4,000,000 cars are Alemite equipped.)

Check up every fitting to see that none is missing. If uncertain, ask your dealer for a diagram showing where each is located.

If Alemite is not on your car your dealer will install it complete, $5 to $20, according to make and model of car. (Fords, $3.99.) There are, of course, cheaper systems than Alemite. But manufacturers do not economize here. It means too much. And what they consider good business should be good precedent to follow.

Easier Riding—Longer Life for Tires

When You Get Full Spring Action

When you get your car new the springs are well lubricated. But as you run the car, you gradually force out the lubricant between the leaves of the springs. Dust and water get in. Springs become dry and rusty. They lose their flexibility. They begin to squeak. The tires have to stand most of the road shocks. By the time you get your second set of tires your springs have become very stiff. That's why your second set of tires never last as long as the first.

You can protect your springs from dirt and water and keep them perfectly lubricated all the time with ALEMITE LUBRICATING SPRING COVERS. These are flexible, rustproof steel covers that encase your springs in a bed of lubricant, keeping out all dust, grit and water. Twice a year you pack with lubricant by means of the ALEMITE COMPRESSOR AND HOSE. Your springs constantly bathed in clean lubricant function correctly at all times. There is no squeaking—can be none. Your car at all times gets the benefit of full spring action, which means easy riding and long life for your tires. Let your dealer show you the full advantage of ALEMITE Lubricating Spring Covers—the only all-metal covers on the market.

The Door of Desire

BY ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Martha, who had been engaged to Jacqueline Cray, had quarreled and Jacqueline had married Julian, second Viscount Montmorency. Julian calls on Martha and she tells him that she has just killed Thurlow, who had been blackmailing him. Julian asks her to come with him to the bottom of the river, where they can get away.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

LEONIE GUESSES THE FALCON'S SECRET.

Very slowly, frowning and muttering, he folded up all the passports and put them back in the suitcase. Stealthily, he took the suitcase back into the hall and replaced it upon the chair. He crept back to the kitchen and out of the door into the garden, and so round the little house and out into the street. The big car waited there. Mr. Kean shivered. There had come to him, in that stealthy moment in the hall, the sound of William F. Skiddy's laughter. It was so peculiarly clear and mocking that the echo of it beat its way into his thoughts.

Mr. Kean was no longer fatigued, merely; he was utterly exhausted. The storm of anger and suspicion had played him out. Reaction was upon him and he could barely stagger under the load of it. He was thankful to find that his mother had gone to bed. He could explain to her tomorrow about Leonie's visit. He got up to his own room. Never had he looked so inviting. He slipped on his slippers, and he felt that he had been waiting for this moment. He slipped on his slippers, and he felt that he had been waiting for this moment. He slipped on his slippers, and he felt that he had been waiting for this moment.

Mr. Kean was no longer fatigued, merely; he was utterly exhausted. The storm of anger and suspicion had played him out. Reaction was upon him and he could barely stagger under the load of it. He was thankful to find that his mother had gone to bed. He could explain to her tomorrow about Leonie's visit. He got up to his own room. Never had he looked so inviting. He slipped on his slippers, and he felt that he had been waiting for this moment.

"Will you not be seated, madame?"
Jacqueline, as she slipped back into the chair, took it for granted that Leonie also would have them; but when she could look steadily about her own room, she saw that she was still hunched up opposite her, hair and eyes ablaze, and her very fall. She looked so alive that it hurt.

"What do you want?" asked Jacqueline, desperately. "May I not have a few moments alone with you?"

"You would have me to call him that?" she asked him. "He wasn't really Julian, but he would have to call him that; he knew him by no other name."

"With your husband," concluded Leonie. "But certainly—if he also was dead."

"You mean that Julian is dead?" asked Jacqueline, and she felt that she was not alone.

"Yes," said Leonie, as if interrupting an accusation. "Lady Montmorency did not tell you. She didn't know. I saw her face out there. I guessed."

"You guessed? That's clever, Leonie," Julian moved a little nearer to her.

"This was really Julian."

"The girl, and Jacqueline had the impression that for a moment they had forgotten her. "I'd like to know what you've guessed, and how. I thought I'd been pretty thorough in covering up my tracks. Of course, I know you lied about my trying to kill you."

"I heard very little. You were too careful! I only heard Aunt Hilda say that she thought you were a ghost from the dead, and that you and she had never visited to each other in your life, and that the story about your death and aunt in America was a fairy tale, and that you hadn't been told about my trying to kill you."

Julian laughed. Even in her misery, Jacqueline could hear a note in the laughter that was new to her.

"That's all, is it? You are a clever devil, Leonie! And then, of course, you had read all about the Montmorency case in the papers. I've just concluded that Leonie is a good deal of a clever girl."

He had seated himself upon the table, his back half turned to Jacqueline. The hand was upon Leonie's, his eyes smiling into hers. Jacqueline recognized the hand and was untouched by it. It was that it helped her to realize more clearly that this was really Julian. It was that it helped her to realize more clearly that this was really Julian.

"I believe you succeeded in doing what Lady Montmorency believed you only planned to do," Leonie was saying gravely, and Jacqueline saw that she had withdrawn her hand. "Being so like the Lord Montmorency who died, you and another man managed to do it. I believe you succeeded in doing what Lady Montmorency believed you only planned to do."

"You think it may have been Thurlow, then, Leonie?"

Julian caught her breath. Leonie did not know who Thurlow was. Leonie was trying to make sure of that.

Leonie shrugged her shoulders.

"Really, it is of no consequence! I do not ask you to tell me anything. But I must stand up. I do not think that my Hector and I will ever see you again."

"Your Hector will certainly never see me again," said Julian lightly. "By the time he is on his way to his home, I must be on my way to some quiet and solitary place which Scotland Yard will take at least a fortnight to find. I will be on my way to some quiet and solitary place which Scotland Yard will take at least a fortnight to find."

"I'm due at Scotland Yard tomorrow morning to have my fingerprints taken, and your conclusions, my dear Leonie, and yours, my dear Jacqueline, he tossed it over his shoulder to her insolently—"I will enable you to see how inadvisable it is for my fingerprints to be on view anywhere."

Julian heard her own voice, dry and strange.

"What was going to happen at the end of a fortnight, Julian?"

"Or, or, or the Argentine, or San Francisco, Jacqueline; just whichever appeared most at the time. The passages are all booked. All that remains is to wait."

"I must see to it that everything you have touched is wiped with a damp cloth," said Leonie composedly. "They may enter the house and search. I will see to it, and then I will pack some things to take with me. I expect Aunt Hilda would like her wadded dressing gown. I shall be ready in a quarter of an hour. Lady Montmorency, if you will be so kind as to take me."

Jacqueline murmured something. In spite of everything, the girl fascinated her. Julian fascinated her. There was something superb about them both, something defiant.

"And when you come back from Devonshire, you will be married, Leonie, and you will begin making something of your poor poor home. Are you quite sure that you will not bring him to the Argentine? There is no fake about it. I promise you. I have an opening for him, and with reasonable care you and he can leave the country without arousing any suspicion."

"It will be disastrous," said Leonie. "I have strongly upon me a feeling that even sending him here tonight to speak to you about it has been disastrous. I should have known it might not be so. No, it is good-by. Elia did not go with Lohengrin."

"Elia could not cook," suggested Julian, and broke again into that new smile that Leonie had seen at Jacqueline's nerves.

"We do not know that she could cook," answered Leonie practically.

"It seems probable that she could, when you remember that Lohengrin was happy with her for so long a time."

Under the little pleats there lay a pathos—an anguish, almost, that Leonie saw in the last straw. She put her hands to her face and found that the tears were streaming down it; she hid her eyes, and if they came—those two—she did not see it. The crazy world was spinning round her, now there was a glaring light in her brain, now terrible darkness. Her mother was everywhere at once; with herself, identifying the murdered man, and telling him that she had always loved him and that now she was free, with Julian—alive—brought up short by that silly little Mr. Kean in the little front garden.

The door closed. Leonie Gyard had gone. By the time Jacqueline was to rise her eyes again, Julian had taken Leonie's place, and was regarding her across the table. Though there was such chaos in her brain, she was not to note that he was pale and tired, that the cruelty had deepened about his eyes, and that his clothes were all new and ill cut.

By Mae Tinee.

Good Morning!

It's nice to welcome Madge Kennedy back again, even though (knows) she may not be the world's greatest movie actress. At that, I believe some people hold her in. Be that as it may, she's a charming, sincere little person, whose faults, one is quite ready to believe, mostly may be honestly chalked up against her director. In "The Purple Highway," which is from the play "Dear Me!" she has excellent male support and gives quite a creditable performance.

The story is rather far fetched. A home for "Artistic Failures" has been founded by an ironical father, whose son has deserted the flesh pots to write plays which do NOT sell.

To the home one day comes the would-be playwright, broke, but whimsical. He would like to see just what a colony of failures is like and how the specimens are tended.

He meets them all—and one who is determined not to be a failure. The last is the slave of the place. Her father having died there, she has since his decease been treated in true Squeers fashion by the iron-mounted matron.

But the matron cannot take away April's dreams, and these Mr. Prentice and a violinist, who also turns out to have been mistaken about himself, help to make come true.

The would-be bits of comedy are the worst things about the film. Otherwise "The Purple Highway" manages to please pretty well.

See you tomorrow!

Norma's Husband Is Keeping His Eye on Tribune Romeo Vote

STOP! LOOK! LISTEN!

THEN—burry up and send in your ballot for the great ROMEO and JULIET contest now on.

Joseph Schenck, husband of Miss Norma Talmadge, sent me the following message in a telegram to a Chicago movie man. I thought you'd be interested in it. Here it is:

"Tell Mae Tinee in company with every one else in the film world, I have been watching the Romeo and Juliet contest with greatest interest. Miss Norma Talmadge and I are anxious to have the public decide who shall play Romeo opposite her when she plays this greatest of Shakespeare's heroines, and we shall make every effort to obtain the man who wins the competition."

"We have been at present debating between Conway Tearle, who gives so romantic a performance in "Ashes of Vengeance," and Joseph Schildkraut, who is working with Miss Talmadge on location now, but we shall abide by the decision of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE votes, providing, of course, the elected Romeo is not under contract elsewhere."

Here's your ballot:

"ROMEO AND JULIET" BALLOT

I cast my vote for Norma Talmadge to play JULIET, and for Rudolf Valentino to play ROMEO.

Edgar Pennington

John W. Jenkins
Charles Keel

The vote to date is as follows:

JULIET.
Norma Talmadge.....406
Rudolf Valentino.....125

ROMEO.
Rudolf Valentino.....582
Joseph Schildkraut.....143
Edgar Pennington.....121
Douglas Fairbanks.....81

Got your scissors or penknife ready? Even a hairpin will do to cut out the ballot, you know.

Send the little things to MAE TINEE, CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

CLOSURE.

William Desmond is to return to Seattle. "The Brazilian Moment" will be his last short feature for some time.

"Navy Blue" will be the first Christie comedy of the new season. Nautical nonsense, they say, with Dorothy Devore in the leading role.

Twenty-six persons were considered for the historical role of Robespierre in "Scaramouche." One De Garcia Forberg won out because of a reported uncanny resemblance to the French patriot.

Aid Chosen by Messer Gets Y.M.C.A. Post

W. J. Parker Elected as General Secretary.

William J. Parker, business manager of the Chicago Y. M. C. A. for twenty-one years, has been elected to succeed the late L. Wilbur Messer as general secretary, according to an announcement made yesterday by W. F. Hynes, president.

"In electing Mr. Parker the board of managers complied with the often expressed wish of Mr. Messer that Mr. Parker should be his successor," said Mr. Hynes. "No one except Mr. Parker was considered for the place."

Mr. Parker, who resides in La Grange, has been connected with the Chicago Y. M. C. A. ever since his graduation from the University of Minnesota in 1897. He was born in Minneapolis in 1876. Following graduation he became identified with Y. M. C. A. work in a secretarial capacity, and five years later became business manager of the largest branch in the world.

During the war Mr. Parker directed the raising of the Y. M. C. A. fund here and has charge as well of raising the United Y. M. C. A. fund. He will take charge immediately of the new campaign by which the organization hopes to enlarge its present Chicago holdings.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune, 435 North Dearborn street, Detroit, Mich., was awarded $5.

The Question.
Do you prefer the hashful or the forward type of fellow?

Where Asked.
The Answers.
Miss Helen Macy, 10803 Avenue G, art student—Let me think a minute. Well, I prefer the forward type, in a way, because you can have more—I mean they are sort of jolly and entertaining. The hashful ones are sort of cold. But whether they are hashful or forward, I usually have a good time.

Miss Madge Brudell, 1712 Wilson avenue, stenographer—Of the two I prefer the hashful type, although sometimes they are pretty deceitful—the hashful ones are just trying to be smart. They seem to think it is smart to be forward. Sometimes their nervousness gives them away.

Miss Ethel Price, 543 Belmont avenue, clerk—I have no preference. The hashful ones are interesting because they give the girl a better chance to show her ability. The forward ones—you can't help admiring them for their ability to sweep you off your feet by their audacity.

Miss Edith Lehman, 400 North Michigan avenue, stenographer—My mind's off duty; the office closes at 5 o'clock. Well, I don't like either extreme. I prefer the happy medium, with a lot of pep; not to give up too quickly; tall, sleek, clear-eyed—and a perfectly gentlemanly gentleman.

Miss Estelle Kervin, 6038 Harper avenue, office work—I prefer the hashful kind. There are very few hashful fellows, especially in Chicago. In fact, I don't know of one. The hashful type is almost extinct. There are far too many of the other kind. At that, I like them all.

Mrs. Coolidge Gets Honorable Mention in Knitter Contest

New York, Aug. 23.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, wife of the President, was not among the winners announced tonight in the knitting contest she entered a few months ago while summering in New England, but she won honorable mention.

The winner of the first prize, $2,000, was Mrs. Elizabeth C. Wyman of Jamestown, R. I., whose sweater and scarf set was adjudged to be the most beautiful and workmanlike of the thousands of articles submitted.

Second prize, $500, was won by Mrs. Elizabeth Potts, Santa Cruz, Cal. Third prize, $250, went to Mrs. C. F. Greenwood of Philadelphia.

Mrs. Coolidge's work, however, is far from lost, although she did not win a prize. She has announced that the baby carriage robe she knitted, with all its fussy trimmings, will be used to tuck around her first grandchild when he—or she—is born.

Among other notables who were beaten in the contest were Mrs. Alfred E. Smith, wife of the governor of New York, and Miss Emily Smith, the governor's daughter.

Speech
PARIS, Aug. 23 (U.P.) - Chancellor Stresemann
speech yesterday is well received in Paris. The speech emphasizes that he made reference to the passive resistance in the Ruhr, and he placed the reparations question on a basis which makes an arrangement possible. The Matin, giving personal expression of
M. Poincaré's opinion, says
France will welcome a revision of Germany's past commitments, since the French believe the German fleet, which England grabbed, really worth six or seven times
much as the reparations commission said it was. If ships are valued at their reparations will be substantially reduced.

BERLIN, Aug. 23. - (Tribune)
Chancellor Stresemann's first foreign policy is an offer to give French industrialists a share in German industry. He refuses to pawn the Ruhr railroads, mines and other property in the Rhineland with France.
Addressing a meeting of ministers, industry and trade today, Stresemann said that what is considered as German over to Premier Poincaré.
told his auditors that the government would not hesitate to attack tunes sharply.
The chancellor then outlined the offer to France, mentioning that Germany already has about 45,000,000 gold marks in goods on order from the United States. He said
Washington estimates the 600,000,000 gold marks ($6.25 while the French estimate is 800,000,000 gold marks ($8.50).
Offers Share in Industry
"Now," continued Herr Str-
"we would not regard as to sacrifice the offer of part of economic system as product-ity for the fulfillment of reparations obligations."
"This is official recognition scheme, continually proposed reparations, and by various lists, to give the French industry from one-fourth to one-third in Germany's industries.
Will Not Pawn Ruhr
"But," continued the chancelor, the French government is not in haste in its thoughts.
ing positive securities, then find a way to come to an understanding with him. Even a temporary of the Ruhr or turning Rhineland railroads or turning the mines and properties in land or Ruhr cannot be considered as the basis for a solution of the reparations problem."
Herr Stresemann repeated his offer to come to an amicable understanding with France, but also that the government the previous government's total indemnity of $7,500,000,000 would be made only after the government has been free for Germany for the protection of our and consolidation of the protection," he said.
